

The first sentence should be subscript-aligned. The font size of the superscripted text should not be different

The first sentence should be superscript-aligned. The font size of the subscripted text should not be different

The first sentence should be top-aligned, which will align their tops with the top of the tallest element in the line

The first four words should be text-top-aligned, which should align their tops with the top of the tallest element in the line

The image at the beginning of this sentence should be middle-aligned, which should align its middle with the middle of the tallest element in the line

The first four words in this sentence should be 12pt in size and bottom-aligned, which should align their bottoms with the bottom of the tallest element in the line

The first eight words (eight has a descender) in this sentence should be 12pt in size and text-bottom-aligned, which should align their bottoms with the bottom of the tallest element in the line

The first four words in this sentence should be 12pt in size and baseline-aligned, which should align their baselines with the baseline of the tallest element in the line

The first sentence should have a font-size of 12px and a line-height of 16px; they are also 50%-aligned, which should align their middle with the middle of the tallest element in the line

The first sentence should be top-aligned, which should align their tops with the top of the tallest element in the line, which is identical to the top of the tallest element in the line

The first sentence should be middle-aligned, which should align their middle with the middle of the tallest element in the line, whereas any text should be middle-aligned with the middle of the default text

The first sentence should be top-aligned, which should align their tops with the top of the tallest element on the line, whether it is the tallest element or not